

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. But when large companies control the airwaves, we get more of what's good for the bottom line and less of what we need for our democracy.

I think that you should take Michael Moore up on his offer to air Fahrenheit 911 if you insist on airing anti Kerry propaganda. But I'm sure you won't!! Money ,money, money is the only thing that matters in this country today and you are guilty of corporate greed. I hope you rot in hell.
